THIRTY-FIVE CENTS

Briefly

Named to panel

Madison County Treasurer John Shimkus has been named to the U.S. Term Limits Council.

The Washington, D.C., based council is an informal group from academia, business, government and civic affairs that will work in support of term limits.

"I am pleased with this appointment," Shimkus said. "Term limitation was one of the important issues of my campaign for Congress, and I believe its time has come. Since elected officials will not reform themselves, it is essential that citizens be involved in reforming them."

Term limit initiatives swept to victory in all 14 states where they appeared on the ballot in November, earning an average of 66 percent of the vote.

County proposal

A new nursing and sheltered care home for Madison County is being proposed by Bob Stille of the County Board. See Page 5A.

Electoral plan

Should the electoral college be abolished? An article is on Page 7A.

Tip of the hat

Colleen Evanoff of Granite City was recently selected to meet with an Advisory Council for ADIA Personnel Services. The council annually meets with top temporary employees such as Evanoff in order to receive input on job assignments, benefits and overall satisfaction with ADIA. The firm said it recognizes it has "two sets of customers" — its temporary employees and its client companies — and actively seeks feedback and opinion from both.

EPA looking at lead pile recycling plan

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Federal environmental officials are looking into the possibility of recycling the giant lead waste pile at the NL/Taracorp Superfund site.

The EPA's Record of Decision for the cleanup for the Superfund site does not call for removal of the lead pile at 15th and State streets, and in fact proposes adding contaminated dirt collected from residences to the existing pile and then capping it with fresh soil.

Granite City officials have said that the pile poses a much greater health risk than residential soil, and have filed a lawsuit in federal court asking the EPA to reopen the Record of Decision and address the pile.

Brad Bradley, project director for the NL/Taracorp site, said Monday that several companies have expressed interest in recycling the material from the lead pile.

While some of the interested companies do not meet EPA standards to recycle the material, and others have sampled the material and found that recycling would not be cost-effective, still other lead recyclers are being considered, Bradley said.

"We have to be very cautious about this. The worst thing we could do is to run this through (a smelter) and create another problem like the one in Granite City," Bradley said.

Alderman Craig Tarpoiff, chairman of the Citizen Advisory Committee for the lead clean-up, said the EPA's interest in addressing the pile is good news.

"Since I got involved in this, the pile has been one of my biggest concerns. I'm glad EPA is finally looking into the possibility of recycling the material," Tarpoiff said.

To be eligible to recycle the material, Bradley said, a smelter must first be licensed by the EPA to handle the material. While the Doe Run Company's Herculean, Mo., facility was at one time considered for the project, it does not have the proper permits, Bradley said.

He said he is awaiting information from U.S. EPA Region 7 (Missouri) regarding the ability of Doe Run's Buick plant, about 100 miles from Granite City, to handle the material.

Once licensing has been verified, the company may take a sample from the pile to see if recycling will be cost-effective.

In addition to lead, the pile contains concrete, wood, plastic (See EPA, Page 2A)

When weather is frightful, swimming pool is delightful

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The temperature outside was hovering close to zero last week as Brigitta Modglin stepped out of the swimming pool, knocked some water from her ears and sought a towel to dry off.

A little cold weather doesn't keep Modglin from enjoying a few laps in the pool year-round.

In fact, she and several hundred others enjoy a swim at the indoor heated pool at the Tri-City Area YMCA whenever the urge hits.

"It's really about the only thing, besides piano and ballet, to do this time of year," Modglin said.

Modglin is a lifeguard and swimming instructor at the YMCA's East St. Louis Area, where thousands of area residents have been swimming and working out for nearly 70 years.

Like many YMCA instructors, Modglin learned to swim 17 years ago in the very same pool in which she now teaches.

"I really enjoy teaching kids, because they're really willing to learn and they have fun while they are learning," she said.

$50,000 fire loss at auto repair shop

A fire at a downtown automotive shop early Saturday morning caused damage estimated at $50,000.

The blaze at Houser Automotive repair shop, located in the 1700 block of Grand Avenue, ignited when a gasoline tank from a vehicle fell on an electrical cord, according to a fire report.

Damage to the one-story metal building and its contents was estimated at $50,000.

An employee of the repair shop was working on a gasoline tank on a van just before 10 a.m. Saturday when the tank fell on an electrical cord, spilled gasoline and ignited.

Employees tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the blaze themselves, according to the report, and then called the fire department.

Twenty firefighters, two pumps, a Telesquirt apparatus, two ambulances and a rescue truck responded to the fire and remained on the scene for two hours.

One firefighter suffered a minor injury when he slipped on a pile of debris and fell to his knees, the report states.

Six off-duty firefighters were called out for overtime to help battle the blaze.

Apartment fire arson

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

An apartment fire in East Granite City on the night of Dec. 29 was apparently set.

The blaze at 2301 E. 23rd St. was set in several places in the basement of the two-story brick building, according to police and fire reports.

Several pieces of furniture in the basement were found to have been burned, and a plastic one-quart bottle containing a flammable liquid was found in the basement, a report states.

Burning embers were found above a fuse box, but no electrical malfunction was apparent, firefighters said.

A resident of the apartment was at home at the time of the blaze, but his wife and two daughters were away. The man escaped unharmed.

Twelve firefighters, two pumps, a Telesquirt apparatus, two ambulances and two fire trucks responded to the blaze. Firefighters remained on the scene for about an hour and a half.

Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Unemployment rises slightly

Unemployment in the Granite City area increased in November, ending four months of decline in the area's unemployment rate.

The November rate was 9.5 percent, up from 8.3 percent in October, which was the lowest rate in more than 18 months.

"Most of the increase in unemployment was due to bad weather causing a decline in construction jobs," said Dennis Hoffman, an analyst with the Illinois Department of Employment Security.

There were also layoffs in transportation and services — both professional and nonprofessional — but retail trade was strong, although higher than October, the November unemployment rate is significantly below what it was a year ago.

In November 1991, the unemployment rate in the Granite City area was 16 percent — 4 percent higher than East St. Louis.

Hoffman said increased employment in retail began in October and, with the reported strong retail sales for Christmas, it should remain strong through January and the first part of February.

"Usually, January and February are the two highest unemployment months of the year," Hoffman said. "But right now it looks like we are much improved from our position a year ago."

For all of Madison County, the unemployment rate for November was 6.3 percent.

The November rate for Illinois was also 6.3 percent while the rate nationwide was 7 percent.

November rates for surrounding communities include 10.3 percent for East St. Louis, 9.2 percent for Belleville and 6.6 percent for Alton. The rates a year ago were 15.6 percent for East St. Louis, 13.2 percent for Belleville and 9.1 percent for Alton.

Braun controversy snares local lawyer

SPRINGFIELD — An airplane supplied by Madison County personal injury lawyer and longtime Democratic fund-raiser Paul Pratt has become part of the controversy over U.S. Sen.-elect Carol Mosley Braun's high-flying lifestyle.

Braun took flak from Chicago media on several fronts in a news conference last week after returning from a 26-day vacation in Africa. Why she and her party flew on Pratt's private plane from New York to Chicago was among the pointed inquiries Braun fended.

Braun spokesman Steve Brown said Thursday that a staff member, whom he could not identify, had "put the travel arrangements together."

Pratt's six-seat plane was used "in part to try and have an orderly return to the city of Chicago," Brown said.

Pratt could not be reached for comment.

He keeps the plane at St. Louis Regional Airport, Bethalto, next to his main law office building. He also has had offices in Granite City and East Alton. Brown said Chicago reporters "have been in such a frenzy about when she was coming back" that Braun and her staff took precautions to avoid a mob scene.

Brown also said he did not know whether Pratt's plane was flown to New York just to pick up Braun, her son, Matthew, and her campaign manager and boyfriend, Kgosie Matthews.

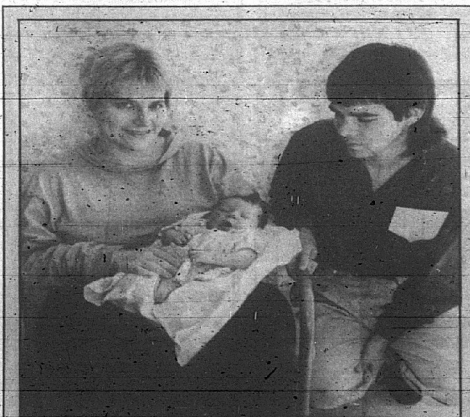

"Paul has made that plane available to a number of political figures over the years. I think (President-elect Bill) Clinton used it a couple of times," Brown said.

Pratt may have also provided the use of his plane to Braun previously, Brown said, but he could give no specifics.

At a news conference in Chicago on Wednesday, Braun was grilled by a reporter about the use of the private plane from New York to Chicago.

Braun's party flew to New York via the supersonic Concorde jet from London, and

Police log

Granite City

Sex abuse arrest made

David A. Fanning, 32, of the 1700 block of State Street, was arrested at 12:58 p.m. Jan. 4 on a warrant charging him with aggravated criminal sexual abuse.

Fanning, a cab driver, was being held on bond set at $75,000. He is alleged to have sexually abused a girl older than 13 years but younger than 17 years of age in a July 1992 incident, according to an information.

Man struck in tavern

Angela D. Gallagher, 22, of the 2100 block of Monroe Street, was arrested at 12:44 a.m. Jan. 4 for domestic battery. A witness told police that Gallagher struck William T. McCoy, 24, on the head in an incident at the Straight Home Tavern, 2415 E. 20th St.

Missouri man charged

Thomas C. Foley, 31, of St. Ann, Mo., was arrested at 12:16 a.m. Jan. 4 for battery. Joan Parnley, 28, told police that Foley hit her in the nose with his fist in an incident in the 2800 block of Iowa Street.

Arrested for battery

Marty W. Sexton, 26, of the 2200 block of East 25th Street, was arrested at 3:15 p.m. Jan. 3 for battery and domestic battery.

Sexton allegedly struck an 11-year-old girl on the head with his hand and a 28-year-old woman twice on the head with his fist in an incident in the 4400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, according to a police report.

For those ages six months through senior citizens, the "Y" offers lap swimming, swimming lessons, recreational swimming and water exercise classes 12 months of the year.

Adults line up at the downtown facility before dawn each morning, waiting for the doors to open at 6 a.m. — probably the busiest time of day for the pool.

The pool is available for lap swimming Monday through Friday from 6-9 a.m., from 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., and from 5:30-6:30 p.m.; and Saturday from 8:30-9 a.m. and from noon to 1 p.m.

Water exercise classes, emphasizing flexibility and muscle toning, are offered every weekday.

Swimming classes, based on age and skill level, are scheduled throughout the week. Private lessons are also available.

New classes are forming this week.

Internationally, the YMCA progressive swim program has taught more people to swim than any other aquatics program.

It operated more than 1,700 pools in 1992, and the YMCA of the U.S.A. maintains records of more than 25,000 lifeguards and swimming instructors.

slag and dust in varying quantities, Bradley said.

"The prospects (of recycling the material in the pile) in 1989 were not real promising. But since then, new technologies have been developed," Bradley said.

"First we have to establish that the company is able to handle the material. Then we'll discuss cost," Bradley said.

He said a program called SITE — Superfund Innovative Technology Evaluation — looks specifically at new technologies to see how they may be applied to EPA cleanup projects.

He said Tarpoff first suggested that one of the Doe Run facilities be considered to recycle the material.

Bradley also said that a cleanup of battery casings and other contaminated material used to fill alleys in the Venice and Eagle Park area is planned to begin in early February.

That cleanup is scheduled to take six to eight weeks to complete, and is estimated to cost $2 million.

While some companies expressed interest in recycling the fill material, none of them found it cost effective, Bradley said.

Braun

some critics have questioned the appropriateness, considering the fact that her senatorial campaign is $200,000 in debt.

During the news conference, Braun refused to identify who supplied the plane in New York.

"I took a friend's plane," was her only response.

"I paid for a private plane partly because I didn't want to be ambushed," Braun added.

Numerous stories in the Chicago media have dwelled on the length of Braun's vacation, sexual harassment allegations leveled against Matthews by some former female Braun campaign staffers, and criticism of the investigation of the charges and Braun's rental of a $3,300-per-month penthouse apartment in Chicago.

Braun, who came out of nowhere as the Chicago area's (Cook County) recorder of deeds to defeat Sen. Alan J. Dixon of Belleville in the Democratic Senate primary, has even drawn criticism from supporters.

"My New Year's resolution is to make sure I genuflect appropriately before the Chicago media on everything I do," she said at the news conference.

Asked about the cost of the private plane, she said, "I have no idea, but I'm paying for it."

"This is not a big deal," Braun added heatedly and said questions about who supplied the plane were "over the lip."

After the news conference, Braun aides identified Pratt as the plane's owner but would not give further details.

They also reportedly said Braun would reimburse Pratt at the equivalent cost of three first-class commercial airline tickets from New York to Chicago.

Pratt has long been a major contributor to Democratic politicians in Illinois and nationally.

His law firms have represented thousands of injured workers in lawsuits, particularly railroad employees referred to Pratt by their unions.

Pratt and other area personal injury lawyers pushed legislation several years ago that would have blunted Illinois Supreme Court decisions that have restricted the number of cases involving out-of-state injuries that could be tried in Madison County.

The county has a national reputation for generous verdicts and settlements to plaintiffs.

While a state representative, Braun sponsored one of the bills seeking to override the state high court rulings. It passed the House but failed in the Senate.

Pratt is appealing a recommendation by a hearing panel of the state Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission that his law license be suspended for three years because he loaned more than $3.7 million to clients while their cases were pending.

The commission administrator alleged the loans are in violation of rules governing lawyers in Illinois.

Plugged — Heavy, continuous rainfall Monday caused a variety of problems around the area. Monday, Above, Street Department workers Danny Warfield, left, and Rufus Valencia work to try to clear a catch basin at the corner of 25th street and Madison Ave. The storm sewer wasn't draining, causing one lane of Madison Avenue to flood.

At left, parts of Wilson Park, like this corner at Benton and 27th street, resembled a lake as the rainwater inundated the ground.

Blood donors warned: Don't give after getting flu shots

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

Blood donors are being warned by the American Red Cross that anyone donating blood within three months of receiving a flu shot runs a remote risk of being banned permanently from donating.

Steven Kendall, a Red Cross spokesman in the St. Louis metropolitan area, said Monday that the vaccine for influenza can show up in blood tests as an undetermined virus. Anyone with questionable results on a blood test is permanently excluded from giving blood.

"We have to warn people who have had flu shots in the last three months that they can give blood but if it shows up in their tests then they will not be able to give blood any more," Kendall said.

He explained that the influenza vaccine leaves tiny traces of the virus in the blood stream. The Red Cross is aware that one of the nine tests that are performed on blood samples is overly sensitive to the traces of influenza.

The traces show up as indeterminate for a virus. As a precaution to prevent anyone from donating blood who may actually have influenza, hepatitis, HIV or any other virus anyone with an indeterminate test is rejected.

"There are such stringent laws concerning blood screening that we cannot take a chance and let someone slip through," Kendall said. "If there is a question about the blood they are rejected."

The Red Cross discovered last year while refining blood tests that flu shots can show up incorrectly in some blood tests, Kendall said.

Only 3 to 5 percent of all people who have had shots will have tests that come back with indeterminate results, he said.

He is not aware of any change in blood testing procedures that may allow people who have been rejected to be retested.

He hopes that warnings will not scare away donors.

The American Red Cross needs about 1,000 units of blood each day during the winter months.

He is afraid the combination of bad weather and a fear of faulty tests will keep blood donors away from blood drives during the winter months.

The American Red Cross needs about 1,000 units of blood each day during the winter months.

There are about 20 blood drives held each day across Illinois and Missouri. Each blood drive needs to collect 50 units for the Red Cross to meet its quota.

The American Red Cross is about 10 percent short of its quota for this month.

Reclamation work at mine is halted

By Jim Haverstick

Reclamation work at St. Ellen Mine is on hold until March when only one third of a pile of coal refuse covered with soil and seeded.

In an agreement with the Abandoned Mined Lands Reclamation Council, Boyd Brothers Inc. construction company stopped work at the O'Fallon coal mine Nov. 30.

At the time construction stopped, all of the North end of the mine near a mobile home park had been completed, all of the coal gob and surry on the surface moved and one third of the refuse covered with top soil and seeded with grass, said Tim

Hickman, executive director of the mine reclamation council.

"March 1 is the date we have set for work to resume," Hickman said. "If we have a mild winter they can even start sooner than that."

Boyd Brothers Inc. of Sesser, Ill., had a deadline of Oct. 5 to have 160 acres of the 195-acre mine covered and seeded. The other 35 acres were to be turned into a lake.

Unusually damp weather this summer and a fire that destroyed hundreds of bails of hay that were to be used during seeding set the contractor behind schedule.

There was also 15 percent more coal refuse at the mine than originally anticipated.

"The ground has to be compacted and as wet as it has been and with as little drying time as we have now, there is no chance they could have completed the work this winter," Hickman said. "We thought it was best that they cease operations out there for the winter."

Boyd Brothers was to be fined $1,055 per day for each day the project goes uncompleted. However, the fine was prorated to $325 per day because 36 acres were seeded on time.

The fine was prorated again to $21.62 per day when more land was seeded before work stopped for the winter. The fine is not imposed during the winter break, Hickman said.

New nursing, sheltered care home proposed for county

Madison County Board member Bob Stille's New Year's resolution is to build a new Madison County nursing and sheltered care home.

Stille, chairman of the County Board's Health Institutions Committee, said he wants to replace the existing nursing and sheltered care homes with a single facility for residents of both.

Questions remain, however, about financing the new construction, which is expected to cost between $4 million and $4.5 million.

Board members have been avoiding a decision on what to do with the aging facilities for almost two years. A pair of task forces were formed 22 months ago to address the financial and structural problems facing the homes, but those task forces have yet to hold a single meeting.

Some board members have quietly suggested shuttering the homes.

Stille is the first to make a specific proposal for saving the services offered by building a new structure.

"I'd like to build a new one. The nursing home is almost a break-even operation but the sheltered care home is where we lose all the money. The building is just so old," he said.

The nursing home is 67 years old; the sheltered care home will turn 100 next year. The facilities, which operate on a patchwork of patient fees, state aid and property tax revenues, have a combined capacity of 165 beds.

The homes currently have a surplus of about $1.6 million, some of which could be used to pay for construction of a new home, Stille said.

It is unclear where the remaining $2.9 million would come from, and Stille shied away from endorsing a property tax increase to pay for the work. The property tax levies dedicated to each home are at their legal limits and any increases would have to be approved by voters.

Without major improvements or a new facility, county officials predict the $1.6 million surplus will be quickly eaten up by sky rocketing day-to-day operating costs. Heating costs are particularly high, since both structures were built before the advent of insulation, officials have said.

In addition, the homes cost the county tens of thousands of dollars in repairs every year due to their advanced ages.

In the long run, a new, combined facility would mean drastically reduced repair costs and more efficient use of existing revenues, Stille said.

A new home that meets current state building codes could also mean more state aid for the sheltered care home residents. The existing sheltered care home does not meet state codes regarding corridor width and similar standards, a situation that results in lower amount of state aid per patient, Stille said.

Board member H. Jack Frandsen has suggested closing the nursing and sheltered care homes but Stille has vowed to fight Frandsen on the issue. Stille's committee oversees operations of both homes.

During budget negotiations two months ago, Stille and Frandsen went head-to-head over a Finance Committee plan to ax several thousand dollars in county general fund subsidies to the homes. The lost subsidies, most of which would have been spent on repairs and kitchen equipment, had to be made up out of the homes' existing revenues.

Stille said the move appeared to be a step toward closing the facilities by making their immediate financial conditions seem more precarious than they really are.

However, Finance Committee members, including Frandsen, defended the move as an effort to clean up accounting procedures and get a clear idea of how much the two homes are costing the county.

Durbin bill would abolish electoral college

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

Calling the Electoral College "a relic from the horse and buggy era of American politics," U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin of Springfield said he plans to introduce a bill this month that would abolish it and provide for direct election of the president through the popular vote.

"We'll introduce it right after the first of the year, as soon as Congress is back in session," said Durbin, a Democrat from Illinois' 20th District.

Under the winner-take-all system outlined in the U.S. Constitution, each state's electors are chosen by the party whose candidate wins a plurality of the popular vote.

That means that, in states like Illinois, where Clinton gained the most popular votes, the electors were chosen by the Democratic Party, and on Monday cast their votes for Clinton.

The bill, put together by Durbin and Wisconsin Rep. Gerald Kleczka, would amend the U.S. Constitution to abolish the Electoral College, which Durbin said no longer serves any practical purpose.

Durbin said he and Kleczka were waiting until 1993 to introduce the bill, and have been lining up co-sponsors in the meantime.

"I'm hoping that in a non-election year we'll have a better chance," he said. "The difficulty we were having last year is people were looking at what advantage it would be for them (in the election)."

The strong campaign by independent Ross Perot also may help the bill's chances, Durbin said, although Perot won no states.

Under the Constitution, if no candidate wins a majority of the electoral vote, the U.S. House of Representatives is required to elect the president.

HEEL PAIN?

If you are suffering from pain located at the bottom of the heel, you may have plantar fasciitis. Plantar fasciitis refers to inflammation of a ligament that attaches to the heel bone and fans out into the toes. The inflammation may be due to a variety of etiologies, almost all of which can be resolved through conservative treatments.

If you have been putting up with this discomfort, feel free to call the specialists of the Foot Health Centers.

Alton Belle pays off for the hungry

Operation Food Search has hit a jackpot of more than $40,000, thanks to the Alton Belle Riverboat Casino.

John Connors, chief operating officer of the Belle, on Wednesday presented a check for $40,210 to Bill Nordmann, executive director of the nonprofit food agency based in St. Louis.

The presentation culminates a fund-raising effort by the Belle to aid in the distribution of food to the needy.

"This is an overwhelming response in a year when our needs are, so great," Nordmann said.

Money collected during the Belle's "We're Putting the Pantries in the Chips" program will allow Operation Food Search to distribute more than $1 million in food, Nordmann said. Each dollar contributed helps the agency provide about $28 in donated food supplies to pantries, he said.

"I think this is just super," said Frances Jackson, executive director of Crisis Food, 21 E. Sixth St. in Alton, which is helped by operation Food Search. "This news is as great as could be. I'm thankful (the Belle) and other companies in town support us."

"This year has been wonderful. People have been more generous than ever before."

The Belle donated $1 to Operation Food Search for every full-paid ticket sold from Dec. 1 through 28.

"It is with a warm heart that I am going to present this check on behalf of the Alton Belle-Casino," Connors said.

Operation Food Search, which was founded in 1981, serves 200 food pantries in Illinois and Missouri. The pantries feed more than 85,000 people each month in six Illinois counties, 14 Missouri counties and St. Louis.

Expectant sibling class Saturday at St. Elizabeth

The arrival of a new baby is an important event which affects everyone in the family — especially the other siblings.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering an opportunity for siblings to feel that they are a very important part of the upcoming event.

SEMC's Expectant Sibling Class allows children to participate in specific activities directed toward their role in coming and understanding their family's newborn baby.

To attend the Expectant Sibling Class, children between three years old or older, and the expectant mother must be at least six months pregnant. The child must be accompanied by a parent, who will also be involved in the class activities. The cost is $5 per child or $10 for a family of two or more children.

The class will meet from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday in the OB solarium, located on the second floor of the Doctors Wing at SEMC. Registration is required. For more information or to register, call 798-3040.

Money seminar here Saturday

A seminar, "Taking Control of Your Money," will be presented from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly.

Victoria Jacobson of the Consumer Credit Counseling Service will be the featured speaker.

According to the Consumer Credit Counseling Service, more than 900,000 bankruptcies were filed in 1991. If the current trend continues, by the end of the decade, 1 out of 14-Americans will have filed bankruptcy at some time in their lifetime. The primary cause of financial problems is the overuse of consumer credit.

The seminar will address topics such as: practical budgeting, solving credit problems, reviewing your credit report and alternatives to bankruptcy. At the beginning of the year more consumers are looking for ways to positively change their finances.

A budgeting guide will be given to each participant. The Consumer Credit Counseling Service is a not-for-profit private agency, and is supported by voluntary contributions from creditors. The agency is a part of the National Foundation of Consumer Credit.

The seminar is hosted by Calvary as a service to the community; it is free and open to the public. To register call 931-4106.

Food

Back To A Healthier Future

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

After the holiday season, most people want to return to better habits with less food and a firmer walk along the straight and narrow when it comes to eating and exercise.

Concentrating on foods that are nutritious and delicious is the easy way to do this. It is time to invite favorite vegetables back to the table.

Mollie Katzen was in St. Louis this fall to talk about her new book, "Moosewood Cookbook, 15th Anniversary Expanded Edition" (Ten Speed Press, $16.95) at the Jewish Book Festival. She helped spur the interest in eating more vegetables and less meat with her original "Moosewood Cookbook" 15 years ago.

She does not think people should play a game of numbers with lots of nutrition advice.

"One of the reasons I don't put nutrition numbers behind my recipes is that people are so out of touch with their enjoyment of food. One reason people are so out of shape is that they are eating by the 'shoulds' instead of following their appetites. We don't even know what we are feeling through our bodies. We should be able to say, 'This looks good and tastes good, so I like to eat it,'" she says.

Because she lives on the West Coast, a wider variety of fruits and vegetables are available in her local markets than can be found in the Midwest. Ethnic influences spark a big market for them. However, when she picks new market ideas, that interest her, she talks about old reliable foods — new varieties of apples and pears, as well as greens and lettuce.

She advises giving greens a whirl in everyday eating by adding to other salad ingredients. Use only the leaves, being sure to remove all the stems because of their intense flavor. She likes to cook them also, chopping them very small and cooking with kale and collards, onion, a little vinegar and a tiny bit of sugar. When she is learning about a new vegetable, she slips it into other favorite dishes — like salad, rice and soup — so its flavor gradually becomes part of her life.

While her own lifestyle is steady as a vegetarian, she sees many people eating more vegetables and less meat as a regular practice today.

"I've always felt that this was a real reasonable way to eat. A lot of people have to have their meat, but I'll bet you're not eating meat seven nights a week anymore. It may be that you can't afford it or the doctor told you to cut down. Eating a meal without meat is nice, tastes good and is aesthetic," Katzen says.

Potatoes — both white and sweet — are experiencing a surge of interest. When she was in St. Louis, she chose to show a colorful recipe that calls for marinating sweet potatoes and broccoli.

One good thing about eating vegetables is that they are simple to prepare and offer variety in their cooking style. These recipes for using white potatoes are useful because they call for cooked potatoes, so extra potatoes baked or mashed or boiled one night can be used in interesting dishes with easy preparation another day. For more potato recipes, write to: Celebrated Potato, Department R, 55 Union St., San Francisco, Calif. 94111.

Marinated sweet potatoes and broccoli

- 3 medium sweet potatoes or yams (1 1/2 to 2 lb.)
- 1/2 cup walnut or olive oil
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 tbsp. raspberry vinegar or red wine vinegar
- 1 to 1 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 tsp. honey
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1 large bunch (1 to 1 1/2 lb.) broccoli, cut in small spears

Thinly sliced green apple and chopped toasted pecans for garnish, if desired.

Peel, halve or quarter, and thinly slice potatoes. Cook in or over boiling water, using a steamer if desired.

Combine oil, garlic, lemon juice, vinegar, salt, dry mustard, honey and pepper in medium-large bowl. As soon as potatoes are tender, add while still hot to marinade. Mix gently.

Steam broccoli until bright green and just tender. Rinse under cold running water. Drain completely. Lay carefully on top of potatoes. Marinate, tightly covered, several hours.

Fifteen minutes before serving, mix in broccoli from top. Serve with apple and pecans.

Makes about 6 servings.

Nicoise salad

- 4 leftover medium boiled potatoes, sliced 1/4 inch thick
- 2 cans (6 1/2 oz. each) tuna in water, thoroughly drained
- 1/4 cup reduced-calorie vinaigrette salad dressing, divided
- 4 to 6 leaves butter lettuce
- 8 oz. frozen whole green beans, thawed, drained
- 1 1/2 cups cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1 small red onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup pitted ripe olives

In separate bowls, lightly toss potatoes and tuna with 2 tablespoons vinaigrette each. Line platter with lettuce.

Arrange potatoes, tuna, beans, tomatoes, onion and olives on lettuce. Drizzle with remaining vinaigrette.

Makes 4 servings; 364 calories, 24 g protein, 4 g fat, 44 g carbohydrate, 30 mg cholesterol, 1,134 mg sodium and 5.8 g dietary fiber each.

Sauteed potatoes provencal

- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 4 leftover medium baked potatoes, cut in 1 inch cubes
- 1 cup sliced zucchini and/or squares red bell pepper
- 4 green onions, sliced
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
- Grated zest of 1 lemon
- Salt and pepper to taste

Heat oil in 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Add potatoes. Cook and turn potatoes about 5 minutes until brown and crisp. Add zucchini, bell pepper, onion and garlic. Cook, stirring, 3 minutes. Stir in parsley and lemon zest. Season with salt and pepper.

Makes 4 servings; 236 calories, 4 g protein, 7 g fat, 41 g carbohydrate, no cholesterol, 54 mg sodium and 3.4 g fiber each.

Southwest mashed potato cakes

- 3 cups leftover mashed potatoes
- 1 can (4 oz.) diced mild green chilies
- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 4 green onions, sliced
- 1/2 cup (1 1/2 oz.) shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 2 egg whites, beaten
- 2 tbsp. chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 tsp. chili powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- Additional cornmeal for coating
- 1 tsp. olive oil, divided
- Salsa
- Nonfat dairy sour cream

In large bowl, mix potatoes, chilies, cornmeal, onion, cheese, egg whites, cilantro, chili powder, salt and pepper. Shape into eight (3 1/2-inch) patties. Coat with additional cornmeal. Heat 2 teaspoons oil in 10-inch nonstick skillet over medium heat. Cook 4 patties, turning once, about 6 minutes until golden. Repeat with remaining oil and patties.

Serve hot with salsa and sour cream.

Makes 4 servings (2 patties each); 303 calories, 10 g protein, 8 g fat, 49 g carbohydrate, 11 mg cholesterol, 426 mg sodium and 4.1 g dietary fiber per serving.

Microwave lightens fat load carried by other cooking forms

By Barb Gray
Certified home economist

With the holiday season behind, let's focus on resolutions ahead. Instead of dieting, we will use the phrase "low-fat cooking."

A microwave oven simplifies this type of cooking. Because foods do not stick in a microwave oven, the fat needed to prevent sticking in conventional recipes can be eliminated.

Fat-free cooking is difficult to achieve conventionally. Nonstick pans do stick sometimes and sprays are a bother. By eliminating cooking fats, a microwave recipe leaves a little allowance for fatty foods like nuts, olives or avocado that add flavor.

The American Heart Association's current Dietary Guidelines for Healthy American Adults suggests the following 10 points:

- Total fat intake should be less than 30 percent of calories.
- Saturated fat intake should be less than 10 percent of calories.
- Polyunsaturated fat intake should not exceed 10 percent of calories.
- Cholesterol intake should not exceed 300 milligrams per day.
- Carbohydrate intake should constitute 50 percent or more of calories, with emphasis on complex carbohydrates.
- Protein intake should provide the remainder of the calories.
- Sodium intake should not exceed 3,000 milligrams per day.
- Alcohol consumption should not exceed 1 to 2 ounces ethanol per day. Two ounces of 100-proof whiskey, 8 ounces wine or 24 ounces beer each contains 1 ounce ethanol.
- Total calories should be sufficient to maintain an individual's recommended body weight.

Recipe

Turkey hoagie

- 1 sandwich roll (6 inches long), split lengthwise
 - About 2 teaspoons oil
 - Italian seasoning or dried leaf oregano, crushed
 - 2 slices (4 oz.) cooked turkey
 - 2 slices (2 oz.) provolone cheese
 - 1 small tomato, sliced
 - Shredded lettuce
 - Polish dill pickle spears, if desired
- Brush cut sides of roll with oil. Sprinkle with seasoning. Top with turkey, cheese, tomato and lettuce.
- Drizzle with additional oil and sprinkle with additional seasoning.

Over the Waves

• A wide variety of foods should be consumed.

One way to keep that resolution to cook "light" is to become a label reader. The new standards set up by the government include definitions for the term "light."

To give us a better standard for judging foods. With a little bit of knowledge and an eye for understanding the new specifications, we all should learn to become better judges of what we are eating.

Lean, well-trimmed meats provide high-quality protein, minerals and vitamins. The lower-fat meats also are lower in calories and compare favorably with poultry and fish. Top round and eye of round beef contain less total fat than skinned dark meat chicken, while pork tenderloin is lower in saturated fatty acids and total fat than salmon and almost as lean as white meat chicken.

Try these pork chops, which are microwaved to tenderness in just a few minutes, as well as this low-fat lemon-lime seafoam pie which would never be considered a "diet" dessert by anyone.

Honey-mustard glazed pork chops

- 1/4 cup Dijon mustard
- 2 tbsp. packed brown sugar
- 2 tbsp. honey
- 1 tsp. caraway seed, crushed
- 2 butterflied pork chops (6 oz. each), about 1/2 inch thick, trimmed, cut in half lengthwise

In 2-cup measure or bowl, combine mustard, sugar, honey and caraway seed. Mix well. Microwave on high power, stirring once, 1 1/2 to 2 minutes, just until mixture begins to boil.

Arrange pork chops on microwave roasting rack. Brush evenly with half the mustard glaze. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave at medium (50 percent) power to 7 minutes until meat is no longer pink, turning over and brushing with remaining glaze once.

Makes 4 servings.

Lemon-lime seafoam pie

- 1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 2 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
- 1 can (12 oz.) evaporated skim milk, chilled
- Lemon or lime slices or zest, if desired

Sprinkle graham cracker crumbs only in bottom of 10-inch springform pan.

In 2-cup measure, microwave water, covered, on high power 1 1/2 to 3 minutes until boiling. Add to gelatin in medium mixing bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add lemon peel and juice. Chill 45 minutes to 1 hour, stirring twice, until soft set.

Place milk in large mixing bowl. Beat on high speed of electric mixer about 1 minute until thick and foamy. Add gelatin mixture. Continue beating until combined. Spoon mixture into prepared pan. Spread evenly over crumbs.

Chill 4 hours or until firm.

Run thin-bladed spatula around edge to loosen. Remove side of pan. Place pie on serving platter. Garnish with lemon or lime slices or zest.

Makes 10 servings, no fat and only 71 calories each.

Try some 'miracle' desserts

Now that the reindeer are back home and the new year's baby has arrived, it is time for "miracle" desserts that take only a few minutes to make.

The sensation of dark chocolate and peppermint that comes in candy patties can be turned into a great dessert and a beverage.

For an easy and minty popular beverage, make Peppermint Pattie Cappuccino. The candy pieces are placed in a microwave-safe mug with a little milk and microwaved until melted and smooth. Simply add hot coffee and, if desired, whipped cream, for a beverage that gives anyone a warm and special feeling.

A pie-lover who does not have time to bake can try Easy Chocolate Peppermint Pie. It is made by melting peppermint patties with a little milk, then combining with whipped topping after the mixture cools. Spoon the creamy concoction into a store-bought crumb crust and freeze for a look that makes people think it took hours to make.

Peppermint patty cappuccino

1 small (1 1/2 inch) peppermint patty (York is one brand), quartered
1 to 2 tsp. milk
Hot coffee
Whipped cream, if desired

In large microwave-safe mug, place peppermint patty pieces and milk. Microwave on high power 30 seconds or until candy is melted and smooth when stirred. Stir in hot coffee until mug is almost full. Top with whipped cream. Serve immediately. Makes 1 serving.

To report a crime or accident in Venice call 877-2114

Easy chocolate peppermint pie

1 (6 oz.) chocolate or graham cracker crumb crust
12 small (1 1/2 inch) peppermint patties, quartered
1 cup milk
1 carton (8 oz.) frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed (see note)

In medium microwave-safe bowl, microwave peppermint patty pieces and milk on high power 1 minute. Stir.

Microwave on high 30 to 60 seconds longer until candy is just melted and smooth when stirred. Cool slightly.

Fold whipped topping into melted chocolate. Spoon into crust. Freeze, covered, several hours until firm. Garnish as desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Note: Do not use "extra creamy" or "light" whipped topping.

Few gifts actually improve with age.
Your bank sells
one of them.

You can count on one hand the gifts that actually get better as they get older. There's only one, though, you can buy at your bank: a U.S. Savings Bond.

The longer Savings Bonds are held, the more they're worth. You buy Savings Bonds for half their face value. They earn competitive, market-based interest — compounded semiannually, when held for five years or more — with a guaranteed return. And they're absolutely safe.

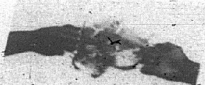

Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. Order them at any full-service bank, savings and loan or credit union, and ask for a gift certificate to give now. When the person receives the Bond in the mail, you and your gift will be remembered for years to come.

Visit your bank for the gift that improves with age: a U.S. Savings Bond. For more information, write: Office of Public Affairs, U.S. Savings Bonds Division, Washington, DC 20226.

Recession ushered in successful movie year

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

The recession of 1992 might prove to be the one factor that gives Hollywood some black ink on the bottom line this year. The movies offered up were singularly unexciting for most of the year. The biggest motivating factor for going to the movies seemed to be the opportunity to escape your problems for a couple of hours. That factor alone may account for the slight increase in attendance at theaters in 1992 over the previous year.

Sequels are always an important element for any movie year. "Home Alone 2" is the biggest of 1992, with $125 million in the till as of Dec. 28 and a weekly average of $20 million. "Batman 2" and "Lethal Weapon 3" also scored well, although not quite up to original projections. Sequels like "Alien 3," "Hellraiser III" and "Honey, I Blew Up the Kid" were flops at the box office. Locally, business struggled, with the period between Thanksgiving and Christmas proving to be the strongest part of the year. Tight budgets for this area's two largest exhibitors, AMC and Wehrenberg, delayed proposed new theater construction.

John Williamson (Kevin Spacey, left) gets a refresher course in the art of the deal from agent Shelley Levene (Jack Lemmon), in "Glengarry Glen Ross."

However, 1993 may finally usher in construction on the proposed Des Peres Cine expansion to 14 theaters.

Here is the list of films I feel are worthy of a "best picture" category. These motion pictures were all released in St. Louis during the calendar year 1992. As usual, I have not ranked them in a particular order.

"Howard's End," "A River Runs Through It," "Glengarry Glen Ross," "Malcolm X," "Unforgiven," "The Last of the Mohicans," "Aladdin," "Enchanted April," "Waterdance" and "A League Of Their Own."

Granite City matmen remain undefeated

Warriors win Canton dual

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Granite City High School wrestling team followed up its second-place performance at the Holiday Tournament last week by keeping its undefeated dual-meet record intact with a 35-20 victory Saturday over Canton.

Coach Mike Garland said the Warriors made the three-hour trip to Canton and wrestled well despite an outbreak of flu on the team. The team was supposed to be a quad, but the other two teams — Quincy and Galesburg — failed to attend.

The Warriors are now 10-0 in dual meets, although their record could be 12-0 if the forfeit wins are figured in. Garland said he has yet to contact the Illinois High School Association regarding the matter.

"I was real pleased we got a win out of it, considering the way we all felt," Garland said. "Just about everyone was sick. You could tell by the scores who had it and who didn't."

In typical fashion, the Warriors won the first four weight classes. Chris Hogan (103), Tim Fulkerson (112), Pat Scheffer (119) and T.J. Slay (125) all were victorious. Canton won the next five weight classes, but Jeff Witter (160), Tony Buchek (171), Andy Richards (189) and Chris Janek (275) closed out the meet with wins.

Janek finished off the meet by pinning Dustin Dugenne at 5:55. "If we would have been healthy, we probably could have beaten them by a bigger score," Garland said. "We were kind of beat up from the tournament."

"I was really proud of the kids and the way they came back and responded. Some of the younger kids got beat, but they didn't get pinned and saved us team points. They're getting mentally tough."

Scheffer had a strong turnaround, defeating Brian Wilcoxen 4-0. Scheffer suffered two losses — his first of the year — to Elgin's Kendrick Sanders at the Holiday Tournament.

"Scheffer rebounded real well," Garland said.

The Warriors have most of the week off to prepare for their third Southwestern Conference dual meet of the season Friday at home against Belleville East. Granite City has already defeated Belleville West and East St. Louis.

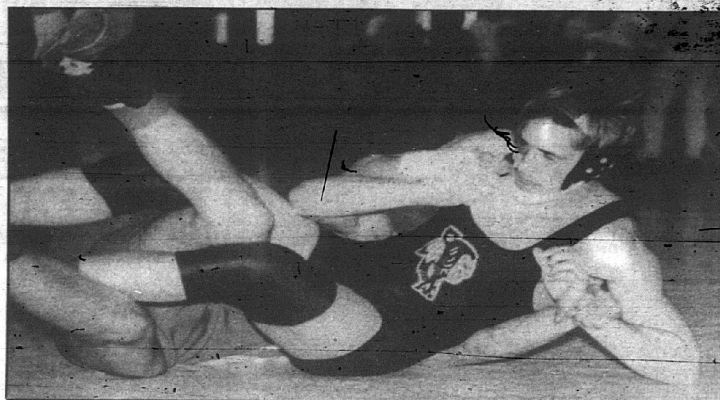

A win Friday could enhance the Warriors' conference standing. At the Holiday Tournament last week, the Warriors placed second while the Lancers placed 11th.

"You can throw the records out when our two teams wrestle," Garland said. "They're always tough."

The Warriors are in good shape after the high finish at last week's tournament. They finished ahead of two area powers, McCluer North and Francis Howell North.

Two Warriors, Chris Hogan and T.J. Slay, won titles, and the team gained some much-needed experience.

Hogan, a sophomore, was wrestling in the tournament for the first time. The only wrestlers who competed in the Holiday

Granite City wrestler T.J. Slay battles his opponent at the Granite City Holiday Tournament last week. Slay is 18-1 this season with 13 pins.

Tournament last year were Slay, seniors Pat Scheffer and Andy Richards and junior Tony Buchek.

Scheffer captured second place at 112, while Richards took fifth at 189 and Buchek took second at 171.

"I thought we'd wind up about fifth or so," Garland said. "A lot of our kids were in the tournament for the first time. It's a credit to all the kids who made it to the second day."

Hogan, Scheffer, Fulkerson, Slay, Buchek, Richards, Janek, John Venne, Jamie Kirby and Joe Scott all made it past the first three rounds.

Granite City's next assignment is Belleville East, but the Warriors will come back Saturday

Granite City is the only Illinois team in the tournament. This year's field contains eight teams, including Columbia Rock Bridge, Pacific, Raymore Peculiar, St. Charles West, Hazelwood West, Washington and St. Charles.

The Warriors could be going for their first tournament championship of the year after second-place finishes at Springfield and the Holiday Tournament.

"We're just going to approach it like any other tournament," Garland said. "We'll just try to improve from last week. We need to be more aggressive and wrestle better on our feet."

Lady Warriors leave Mascoutah on losing note against Crusaders

Granite City looks to rebound from OT loss

By Tim Carley
Correspondent

The Granite City High School girls basketball team had plenty of opportunities to win the fifth-place game at the Mascoutah Invitational last week, but the Lady Warriors failed to capitalize and lost to Althoff 55-51 in overtime.

Granite City coach Allen Lobdell had been looking forward to the tournament, and the outcome fell short of his expectations. The Lady Warriors were trying to rebound from the Althoff loss Monday night with a home game against Wood River.

"It's real disappointing," Lobdell said. "We went to the free-throw line, but we didn't have a lot of success. We didn't demonstrate a lot of patience, and they shut us down inside."

Cygan traveled with 23 seconds left. Granite City inbounded the ball, and the Crusaders fouled at their first opportunity. Kessel drew a foul and made one of two free throws, and the Lady Warriors took a 48-46 lead with 16 seconds left.

The Crusaders went to Jones to tie the game. But after she missed a shot, sophomore Kelly Friedrich grabbed the rebound and got the putback to tie the game just before the buzzer sounded.

WHICH HOSPITAL WOULD YOU EXPECT TO INTRODUCE THE LATEST MRI TECHNOLOGY AVAILABLE ...CLOSE TO HOME?

Memorial Hospital...of course.

There are other Magnetic Resonance Imaging scanners in this area. But, none of these less advanced and less powerful machines provide you and your physician with the much greater power, sophisticated clinical technology, substantially reduced scanning times, or superior image quality of Memorial's new state-of-the-art MRI system.

Memorial recently added this innovative diagnostic testing to its list of "firsts" in modern healthcare services for this area. But, by now, you've come to expect Memorial to be this area's leader in introducing advanced, clinically-proven, and cost-effective diagnostic testing technologies. After all, Memorial was first to introduce, among others, CT scanning, cardiac catheterizations, non-invasive blood flow tests, and nuclear medicine scans - in addition to comprehensive emergency services, convenient FAST-TRACK urgent care services, and complete private outpatient surgery services.

Memorial's MRI Center, like all of our outpatient services, was built with our patients in mind. It features a comfortable and attractive facility staffed by skilled professionals - - - as well as easy scheduling, convenient parking/access, and expedited registration. Now, you don't have to settle for a less advanced MRI scan in a mobile trailer - - - or the decreased comfort from much longer exam times. And, you no longer have to fight the St. Louis bridge traffic to benefit from the latest and most advanced MRI technology available - - - locally only at Memorial.

When your physician recommends that you have a MRI scan, don't settle for second best. Ask that it be performed at Memorial's MRI Center - this area's leader in advanced, clinically-proven MRI technology.

Briefly

Laureate Alpha Gamma meets

Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Alice Konieczny during the first week of December. Imogene Forrest invited members to her home on Dec. 13th to pack cookies for the elderly. Ruth Stoyanoff finalized plans for the chapter Christmas dinner at a local restaurant.

Lora Lombardi announced that the Indian artifact collection of Tom Shashek is being displayed in several local schools. Alice Konieczny presented a check to the Treasurer as the final deposit on a ways and means project.

On December 6th, Imogene Forrest, Evelyn Tolliver, Arlene Haldeman, Joyce Alexander and Delores Dortch motored to Okawville, IL to enjoy the annual Christmas show.

A tour of several craft shows was made and time to visit the Festival of Trees was taken. A family style dinner was enjoyed at the Mineral Springs Hotel. The evening was concluded with a drive through the Way of Lights at the Lady of the Snow Shrine.

Club holds Thanksgiving dinner

Granite City Junior Service Club recently celebrated its annual Thanksgiving dinner.

A buffet meal was served, meeting held, gifts were exchanged, secret pals were revealed and a hobby auction was held.

The club discussed the annual breakfast with Santa.

The Granite City Junior Service Club purchases eye glasses for school age children of parents who are unable to provide the glasses for the children. All proceeds from the breakfast were used for the eyeglasses.

Those in attendance at this month's meeting were: Donna Sprinkle, Helen Martin, Mary Adams, Gale McGovern, Becky Serich, Laura Rapoff, Sarah Repp, Melia Rosenberg, Pat Murphy, Melanie Russell, Debbie McMillan, Karen Gitcho, Lisa Smith, Leslie Verschyl, Cheryl Winfield, Vicki Simpson, Carol Jones, Diane Simon, President Maryann Bright, Eleanor Beck, Debbie Heintz, Rosemarie Heath, Maurven Nichols, Jeanie Wilbur, Sharon Reader, Susan Wofford, Julie Worthen, Nancy Williams, and Dianne Moran.

Job's Daughters hold fund raiser

The Job's Daughters of Bethel 43, Granite City, held a fund raiser Oct. 30 at the Masonic Temple, 2011 and Cleveland Blvd.

Many young people were on hand for Halloween costume party, which netted the Masonic organization almost $100. The proceeds were divided between the Supreme Guardian's project, which purchases hearing aids for needy children, and the local Masonic Temple to help in the repaving of the parking lot.

The Job's Daughters of Bethel 43 invite any girl between the ages of 11 and 19 to inquire about their eligibility. Questions may be directed to the Bethel Guardian, Charlotte Root, or to the Honored Queen, Jennifer Offt, 451-8169.

Pack 122 meets

Pack 122 of Niedringhaus School held its pack meetings on Sept. 24 and Oct. 22.

The September meeting was about fire safety. Scouts displayed posters done at den meetings. Fireman Snelson talked about fire safety and answered scouts' questions.

Scouts also received their summer awards.

The October meeting featured the Bochmer 9-member family juggling act from Jerseyville. Scouts receiving their Bobcat badges in a candle ceremony were: Michael Dobrynski, Eric Dunnauat, Nathan Fischer, Chris Kahl, Chris Lee, Larry Oropeza, Jonathan Suits, Matthew Thomason, Ken Townsend, Jimmy Weaver, Joey Weaver, Daniel Woodson, Ryan Woodson.

Alaska offers spectacular scenery

The sixth day of the Journals' Grand Alaska Tour is one of the more interesting days of the trip. It's a morning you drive through woodlands of spruce, birch and aspen to Anchorage. The stretch of Alaskan highway provides respect for the vast Alaskan interior. And traveling at the height of the season almost guarantees great weather.

The route parallels the Alaskan railroad between Anchorage and Fairbanks. It's a delightful drive which, unlike the train, offers the flexibility to stop and take photos, enjoy the countryside and observe wildlife.

As you approach the coast, the forest gives way to the lush Matanuska River valley. Travelers arrive in Anchorage, the state's largest city, centrally located to shopping and sightseeing around lunchtime.

In the late afternoon, when the light is best, a three-hour floatplane trip goes over some of the more spectacular scenery in North America. The pilot gains altitude approaching Turnagain Arm and Portage Glacier, and up to its source to see the myriad of five glaciers fed by the ever-present snowfields.

Then fly through Portage Pass where the mountains drop suddenly to the sea. The blue-green wonderland is Prince William Sound studded with forested islands and flanked by white capped mountains. The pilot banks to the left and there, coming like a giant blue-white serpent, is the massive Columbia Glacier. It's awesome with its deep crevasses and floating remnant icebergs where seals sun and play.

The Journals Grand Alaska Tour departs St. Louis on July 24 for two weeks on an itinerary that combines the best of the Alaska is rich in wildlife such as these moose pictured in an area near the McKinley River.

Inside Passage Cruise with a 10-day excursion into Alaska's interior. If you really want to see Alaska, and not just the coastal areas, this is the tour.

For Sports Injuries, Doctors Have A New Strategy In Their Gameplan.

Shoulder pain. Knee injuries. The active life can take its toll. Whatever your game, there's always the chance of a painful injury. But pain is just part of the problem. To prevent further damage, and initiate treatment, your doctor needs to find the cause.

Now there's a new diagnostic approach to assist physicians in determining the exact location and type of injury! Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI). This advanced technique gives the doctor an accurate picture of the affected area to help pinpoint the injury—from shoulder rotator cuff tears to injuries of knee ligaments and meniscus—without radiation, invasive surgery or hospitalization. So your doctor can determine appropriate treatment—and get you back into action as soon as possible.

Sports injuries are one of the many medical problems that are benefiting from advanced MRI testing.

Other applications include use in evaluating:

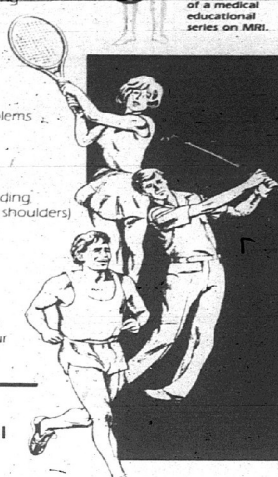

- Low back pain
- Hearing loss & equilibrium problems
- Work-related injuries
- Neck pain
- Joint pain (including hips, knees and shoulders)
- Plus other areas

To find out more about MRI, ask your doctor. Or contact:
